The Girl Who Lives Alone

whether she attends college or goes to business, needs the Perfection Oil Heater. It will heat a cold, cheerless boarding house or dormitory room and make it livable. It is always a ready help in the many things women do for themselves in their rooms. With the damper top opened it will heat water for tea or cocoa; it will dry the small articles that a woman prefers to wash herself in her own room. It will quickly heat an iron or curling tongs; quickly dry wet shoes or skirts—an ever ready help for the woman who lives alone, dependent on her own resources. The is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. It will burn nine hours with one filling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless; has a cool handle and a damper top.

An indicator shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain. It has an automatic locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so the wick can be quickly cleaned.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be unscrewed in an instant for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

John Deitz, Cameron Dam Outlaw,
His Daughter and Cabin

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

John Deitz, who fought lumber corporations for years and caused the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars in timber because he would not let logs go over his dam without pay, has all the help and assistance he needs in his last fight against the law. When the "outlaw" of Cameron Dam, Wis., made his stand against the sheriff and scores of deputies he attracted the attention of the entire country. He is still in jail with his son, and his wounds are fast healing. The authorities will place him on trial as soon as the doctors declare him fit to face a jury. Deitz declares he was not the leader in the attack on local school officials. He adds that he is the victim of the lumber combine and that they are trying to persecute him for his refusal to give them free transportation.

SWISHER TALKS ABOUT RESULTS

Declares the Recent Landslide Was Merely a Political Accident.

Monday's Baltimore American publishes the following interview:

"We may be just a trifle disfigured, but we are still in the ring, and the cyclone that hit us last Tuesday does not discourage us a little bit," said the Hon. Charles W. Swisher, former secretary of state of West Virginia, at the Rennett last evening. Mr. Swisher is one of the chieftains of his party in West Virginia and, barring accidents, will be the next governor.

"Dropping all figurative language, and speaking with the utmost seriousness," continued Mr. Swisher, "I want you to distinctly assert in The Baltimore American that the recent election was one of those political accidents that occasionally happen to a party that has enjoyed a long tenure of power. The American voters get a little cross at times and perpetrate a surprise just to show their independence. After that they gladly return to the party of prosperity and constructive statesmanship, the only party that has demonstrated its ability to so conduct the government as to banish soup-houses and keep the wolf from the door of the wage-earners."

"West Virginia is as staunchly Republican today as ever, and after the excitement is over and the Democratic fluke calms down, the old-time conditions will obtain and the old-time allegiance to party will be resumed. In 1912 the electoral vote of our state will go to William H. Taft and a solid delegation of Republican congressmen will be sent to Washington."

"In the meantime the commanding officer, not only in the party, but in the nation, is William Howard Taft and the election was in no sense a slur of one of the best and wisest men who ever sat in the White House. On the other hand, I hold that it distinctly fixes his status as the real and only leader of the great Republican party. The demand comes from all quarters for Taft to be leader, in fact as well as in name, and in that way not only will the spurious and self-assumed leadership of another be cast into the scrap pile for all time, but with Taft as commander-in-chief the party which is best fitted to guide the destinies of this nation will be again intrusted with the mandate to govern."

GO WEST.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonzo Stout, of Quiet Dell, left today for Colorado for the benefit of his health. They will reside on a ranch in that state.
